Founded in 2008, the Strasbourg European School is located in the historic city of Strasbourg, capital and principal city of the Alsace region in eastern France, and the official seat of the European Parliament and several major European institutions, such as the Council of Europe, Eurocorps and the European Ombudsman.

The mission of the European schools is to provide a broad, multilingual and multicultural education of high quality, from nursery level to university-entrance. It aims to give pupils confidence in their own cultural identity, developing high standards in the mother tongue and in foreign languages whilst fostering tolerance, co-operation, communication and concern for others throughout the school community and beyond.

We advise that you familiarise yourself with the European school system and curriculum before applying for the position at the following address : www.eursec.eu.

The European School of Strasbourg is looking for a qualified teacher of Chemistry and Biology (eligibility to teach in an EU country is essential) preferably with experience of teaching in a European School or in the international arena.

Under the authority of the Director of the European School, your mission will be to teach Chemistry and Biology (in your native language) to children between 11 and 18 years of age. It is also required that your level of French will allow you to consult with your non-English speaking colleagues, meet with the parents of your pupils and to help develop cooperation between all language sections.

You will teach from Monday to Friday and be required to assist in team meetings (follow-up of pupils' individual progression, setting up of shared pedagogical projects) and meetings with parents.

The continuation of your contract will be decided on your commitment and ability to adapt to the European School system and your potential for training.

Your performance will be followed and evaluated regularly using the system set by the objectives and content of the European School curriculum and you will benefit from help, training and the structure necessary for your professional progression.
